

METRO PICTURES

"Gallery Peeping: The Best of New York Fall 2018," CulturedMag.com (September 28, 2018).

CULTURED

B. Wurtz's Octave, 2018. Piano parts, speaker, metal, bottle caps, wood, show buttons, buttons.

B. Wurtz's "Domestic Space" at Metro Pictures

This summer, B. Wurtz transformed City Hall Park in New York with his Kitchen Trees. The sculptures' branches laden with cooking utensils toyed with our expectations of private and public spaces. At his new Metro Pictures exhibition, this line of inquiry continues indoors with a fresh batch of entries from Wurtz's ongoing Photo/Object series where the artist pairs an everyday item with a scale-distorting black and white image of the same implement. Elevated by the attention to detail the artist lavishes upon the overlooked and the ordinary materials of our lives, the domestic space transforms into a wunderkabinet.